TO MY MOTHER.

(The following beautiful poem is to be noted in the paper of Mr. W. H. Belcher, who, within forty-eight hours, was buried from his death to his grave at Stanford.)

There's not a line on thy dear face,
Or on thy brow impress,
No remembrance of more tender grace
By thy sweet lips possessed.

The lily lies upon thy cheek,
Is prettier than the rose;
And day by day and e'enly week
With age it sweetly grows.

The sunny brightness of thine eyes
Has faded, but their hue,
Is pure, and in them lies
The light of all that's true.

Thy smile is just as sweet as when
It lit thy gentle face,
The years have hurried it away,
And chilled its grace.

A shadow of a smiling nose drew
And life faded far away,
How sweet in trust that higher bow,
That beauties sleep.

To trust as thou dost, dear old heart,
Whose days are almost done,
Oh! that thou couldst that trust longer
To the poor wayward one!

Changes of Ten Years in Congress.

A remarkable change has been wrought in the political character of the United States Congress in ten years. In 1869, when Hon. Allen G. Thurman first took his seat in the then United States Senate as a Senator from Ohio, and looked round the Senate chamber, he found that only ten other Senators answered to the classification as Democrats, while sixty-one Senators answered to the classification as Republicans, and Georgia was without representation. This gave the Republicans fifty majority over the Democrats in the Senate.

In the House the representation was, Republicans one hundred and sixty-nine, and Democrats seventy-two with a vacancy in the 3d Ohio district and a vacancy in the 21st Pennsylvania district. This gave the Republicans ninety-seven majority in the House, and one hundred and forty-seven majority on joint ballot. Then the outlook for the Democratic party was not cloudy merely—it was impenetrably dark, without a rift in the darkness through which a ray of hope could penetrate to cheer to steadfastness in the faith and to maintain organization. The faithful band struggled on and hoped on. Their fidelity to principle and organization has been rewarded. They have triumphed! Now, Senator Thurman, as he walks into the Senate, can point you to a Democratic majority of at least eight in the Senate, and to an equal, if not greater majority in the House—to a Democratic majority of sixteen on joint ballot as against a Republican majority of one hundred and forty-seven only ten years ago—within his brief Senatorship.

Never in the history of the United States was there so great a change in so brief a period of time in the political character of Congress. The bold stories of the Arabian Nights scarcely seem more wonderful. And in view of this almost miraculous change, there are politicians of the Republican faith who flatter themselves that the time is not near at hand when a Democratic President will be inaugurated amidst the ringing plaudits of a victorious Democracy. Now is the time for Democratic columns to close up and stragglers to come into line, that this grand consummation may be witnessed on the 4th of March, 1881!—[Wayne County (Ohio) Democrat.

BANANAS.—Few people who see bananas hanging in the shops of fruit dealers think of them as more than a tropical luxury. The fact is, they are a staple article of food in some parts of the world; and, according to Humboldt, an acre of bananas will produce as much food for a man as twenty-five acres of wheat. It is the case with which bananas are grown that is the great obstacle to civilization in some tropical countries. It is so easy to obtain a living without work that no effort will ever be made, and the men become lazy and shiftless. All that is needed is to stick a sucker into the ground, and it will at once sprout and grow, and ripen its fruit in twelve or thirteen months without further care, each plant having from 75 to 125 bananas; and, when that dies down after fruiting, new suckers spring up to take its place. In 10 years where no foot ever reaches bananas are found in all stages of growth, ripening their fruit every day and every month in the year.

Wade Hampton, Jr., writes the Charleston News and Courier: Please deny, on my authority, that I was present at a ball given to Gen. Sherman at Jacksonville, Florida. He would certainly have avoided meeting the man who was guilty of the cruelty of burning Columbia and the cowardice of denying it.

The Waste of Fire.

During the past year, without the occurrence of any remarkable fire, it has cost the United States about $200,000 a day to furnish employment to our town and city fire departments. What the fire departments cost we do not know; it is a good round sum at the least calculation. Architects say that 10 or 15 per cent of the cost of any building, properly expended, will make it practically fireproof. Our daily fire losses would therefore fireproof from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 worth of new structures a day, or upwards of $300,000,000 worth a year. At this rate it would not take many years to reduce the daily fire losses to comparative insignificance. It might not be a bad thing to forbid in towns and cities the erection of houses upon which less than 5 per cent of the total cost should be devoted to approved plans for preventing the spread of fire. In view also of the increased indifference to fire risks incident to fire insurance, it might be good policy to require that, for every dollar spent for insurance, a proportional sum should be expended upon means for preventing fires, or upon appliances for securing the prompt extinction of such as might be started. If preventive measures were thus made imperative for a decade or so, the country would soon be able to save a considerable portion of the $100,000,000 a year now directly or indirectly sacrificed to the "fire fiend"—an item certainly worth taking an account of. [Scientific American.]

OLD PRACTICES.—In some parts of Scotland, in former times, the plow used to be drawn by four horses abreast, and required the attendance of three men. The business of one man was to drive. For that purpose he placed himself between the middle horses, with his face toward the plow, to guide it straight, and in this position he stepped backward with the reins in his hand. Another walked behind the plow with a crooked staff, which he fastened in the front of the beam, and by means of it regulated the depth of the furrow by raising or lowering the plow, as occasion required. The plowman followed with a hold of the staff, and in this formidable and ludicrous manner they repeated their attacks on the soil. In harvest a basket machine was placed on horseback for carrying home the grain, and persons were employed, on each side, with forks to keep it in a proper poise. It is said that this practice is yet to be met with in Galway.

LOUISIANA ROCK SALT.—The Maryland Academy of Sciences have received a large block of very pure rock salt from the island of Petit Anse. The island comprises a tract of 2,000 acres, near the Gulf of Mexico, rising out of a salt marsh to the height of 170 feet. The shallowness of the approach to the island requires the construction of a causeway to deep water before this remarkable salt mine, which has been opened into the pure salt rock to a depth of 60 feet, can be economically worked. The quantity of underlying salt is estimated at least 15,000,000 tons. This is, however, but guesswork, but the quality of the salt is shown by analysis to be 99.66-100% of purity, the best Liverpool salt testing but about 98 per cent.

One of the deacons of the Rev. Mr. Jasper's church at Richmond, Va., prayed last Sunday as follows: "Oh, Lord, we're a mighty abused people; we've had a hard time in slavery; we've been all broken to pieces; we're half-bogged, knock-kneed, bandy-shanked, cross-eyed, and a great many of us is hump-backed. Now, Lord, we wants to be mended up, an' we wants you to come an' do it. Don't send an angel, for de is too big a job for an angel. You made us, O Lord, an' you know our wants, an' you kin fix us up as nobody else can. Come right down yourself, and come quick. Amen."

A correspondent speaking of a now dance recently introduced into New York society, says it is awful, but lovely for the boys. "What," he asks, "could be more pleasant than to put your arms around twenty young ladies in an evening, bringing their blushing faces to touch yours, and squeeze them tight, while their throbbing bosoms touch your heart? And this is fashion! I have joined Mrs. Sherman." And we are strongly tempted to join the dancers.

Humorists are not encouraged in China. When a paragraph gets off a joke on an emperor, the alleged humorist has his pig tail cut off. The loss of this hirsute appendage is bad enough, but when they amputate it without removing it from his head, it becomes painful, and the paragrapher's propensity for joking is cured for ever.

The best and about the only way to get even with a treacherous mullet, and who ever saw any other—is to take his shoes off, lead him on smooth ice and then blackguard him. He dare not indulge in his natural propensity, and the resolution of spirit exhibited in his intelligent countenance is really interesting.

One More About McCreevy.

Some days before the adjournment of Congress, as the story goes, good-natured and ponderous Senator McCreevy, of Kentucky, was waddling down Pennsylvania avenue, when a dapper young gentleman, one of that class which delights "society girls" by examining at intervals during a fashionable reception, "Have you been very gay this season?" approached him with the question: "Ah, Senator, how do you? I called on you this morning. Did you get my card?" "Yes," said the Senator, dryly, "I got the card; but what did you mean by writing 'E. P.' in the corner of it?" "Oh, that," said the young gentleman, evidently delighted at being able to give information, "that you know, means 'on persons,' in other words, 'not in person.'"

"Yes, yes," said the Senator, meditatively, "I see."

The next day Mr. McCreevy again met the young man, and this time going up to him, said: "Ah, by the way, I called on you this morning; did you get my card?"

"Yes, sir; yes," was the reply. "I got it; but, I say, Senator, what in the world did you mean by writing 'S. B. A. N.' in the corner of it?"

"What?" cried the old gentleman, laughing all over his face, "didn't you understand that? I'm surprised. What should I mean but 'seen by a nigger'?"

The Hartford Post tells the story of a man who, being sick with some kind of fever, and being pronounced by his physician as beyond hope of recovery, was cured by the treatment of a neighbor who was called in to watch him. As there seemed no possibility of the patient living through the night, the watcher insisted that the family should all retire early, promising to call them if any unfavorable change should occur. As soon as he was left alone with the presumably dying man, the attendant commenced feeding him with cold water, a temporizing act at a time, containing this until an ordinary water-pail full had actually been administered. The fever thus drawn out, the sick man fell asleep, awakening late in the morning to call for aid. It was allowed to eat what he wanted, continued to improve, and in two or three days was up and about his business. The water used was taken from an adjacent well. The Post adds that this remarkable case of cold water cure is well attested, and is, without doubt, true.

The following shows how American trotting horses are progressing in speed. It will be noted that fifty years ago the time was not astounding:—

In the year 1720, the best mile time was 3:30.

In 1830 the record was 2:40.

In 1840 the best time made by Dutchman was 2:28.

In 1850 the best record made by Lady Suffolk was 2:26.

In 1860 the best record made by Flora Temple was 2:18.

In 1870 the best record made by Dexter was 2:17.

In 1870 the best record made by Goldsmith Maid was 2:11.

In 1878 the best record made by Rarus was 2:13.

Edwin Forrest has made his half mile in 1:05.

Do you know what the fundamental difficulty is in this world? As far as the universal delusion that a No. 5 boot can be made to fit a No. 6 boot. The bank cashier takes a few thousand dollars from the vault with the expectation of becoming rich on Wall street, and returning it; the clerk drives a fast team and indulges in all its com- mitments on a salary of $800; the business man lives on the avenue and accumulates debts with the hope that something favorable will turn up; the young man marries for money and the business man becomes lazy and shiftless. All that is needed is to stick a sucker into the ground, and it will at once sprout and grow, and ripen its fruit in twelve or thirteen months without further care, each plant having from 75 to 125 bananas; and, when that dies down after fruiting, new suckers spring up to take its place. A young woman married an widower in Taurerville, Ga., and soon fell in love with his son, who was about her own age. The mother was fully disengaged by the trio, and all agreed that it would be better for her to become the wife of the son. The trans- ferring was amicably made by means of a divorce. Since then the old man has married his ex-wife's mother, and the rearranged family is harmonious and happy.

Two Miles in the Air.

Sudden local wealth will create a city almost as quickly as Aladdin's genii could do it, and the oriental may vanish as suddenly. Pithole (Pa.) "rose like an exhalation," and now only a few ruins are left of it. Whether the new Colorado city will have a similar history, time must tell. A far West exchange has this sketch of Leadville: "Leadville, Lake county, Colo., is the highest, newest, and, at its size, the noisiest city on the continent. It is close up to the snowy range, overlooking California Gulch, the scene of the golden fury of 1850. At an altitude of about nine thousand feet, or, to put it more forcibly, nearly two miles higher than New York, it may be considered as well up in the world. There is no place like it in the whole Rocky Mountains. It is a larger city than Deadwood on the North, or Silverton or Lake City on the South. The twenty-year-old towns of Black Hawk, Central and Georgetown are nothing to it in population, trade, fast money-making and fast every thing. Where Leadville now stands was a year ago a howling wilderness."

Habit of Shirk.

The habit of shirk is a great evil in our land. Sad and bitter are the experiences of multitudes who have lost positions of emolument and trust by shirk duties and responsibilities devolving upon them. They saw their mistake after it was too late. It is a bad sign to see a young man contracting the habit of shirk. You can set it down at once that sooner or later he will be a drone in the great hive of human industry, living without a purpose in life and scorned by all who have willing hands, and follow up what they can find to do. Young man, if you want to gain the confidence and esteem of your employer, never shirk from a duty. If overtasked, lay in your complaints, and you will always get a hearing. If you begin life a shirk, you may set it down as a fixed fact that the habit will follow you through life, and as a success, you will be an utter failure."

SMALL CHILDREN.—There have been for some time on exhibition in this city two very small children. The larger, "General Mite," is described as 14 years old and weighing 9 pounds. They will pick up all the worm-falls, and this will wonderfully lessen the destruction of fruit by worms. Top dressing of rotten manure, leaf mold, ashes, lime, etc., are very beneficial to orchards that have been bearing a few years. Orchards are essential only to those who have no garden.

As an admirer of Capt. Blackburn, and being identified with the section he represents, we were anxious that he should have been elected Speaker of the House, but as a matter of policy and as a quietus to those Radical organiza who have spoken of him as an "extremist" and a representative of the Rebel element, it is perhaps better that Randall should have been victorious. Blackburn has reason to be proud of his support, however, and his friends have greater cause to love him than ever. Who but a magnanimous and patriotic man, when the elation of defeat was presumably at fever heat in his breast, could have uttered the following as preliminary to moving that the nomination of his opponent be made unanimous? "I had hoped," said he "that it might have been the pleasure of this House to impose the responsibilities and duties of the Speaker-ship upon one from the section and people with whom I am identified, so that we might have been able to prove to the people of this country that the South might safely be trusted with the formation of these Committees, and to shape the legislation of the land. Had I been selected for this service, it would have been my duty, as I certainly would have been my pleasure, to wield the great powers that pertain to this station in such a way as to put all sections and factions behind me, and to promote the general interests of a common country in which citizens all hold equal rights, and to which each citizen should consider a common allegiance. I would have endeavored to prove to these generous friends from the North who stood by me in this contest that their confidence was not misplaced; for I should earnestly have endeavored to bury the melancholy memories of the terrible past in those trenches where the moldering remains of those who gave their lives to those struggles today are resting."

About ten days ago a carriage went to the house of Mrs. Carrie Truscott, a highly respectable married lady, living near Newport, Ky., in a locality known as the "Highlands," and after ascertaining that her husband was absent, went into her room and commenced searching for valuables. Not finding a great many, he knocked Mrs. T. down, and after securely tying her with strips of a sheet that he tore up, brutally outraged her and left her nearly dead. The distantly dead fired the hearts of the neighbors to such an extent they instituted an unremitting search, and, after a week's time, found the man, one Peter Klein in Cincinnati. He was taken to the Newport jail, but the indignant people formed themselves into a mob, and after knocking down the Mayor of the city and forcing the jailer to give up the keys of the jail, took Klein out and carried him into the presence of Mrs. Truscott on the 12th, and tore the jail completely down, and swore that another jail should never be built in that county. They threatened to burn the Court-house, and it is expected that they will carry their threat into execution before the July term of the Court. The Courier-Journal's correspondent says, "those who latter themselves in that State should they nominate him. The West Virginia delegation were not less emphatic in their opposition."

A mob of men enraged at the recent thwarting of their plans in Breckinridge, proceeded to Jackson on the 12th, and tore the jail completely down, and swore that another jail should never be built in that county. They threatened to burn the Court-house, and it is expected that they will carry their threat into execution before the July term of the Court. The Courier-Journal's correspondent says, "those who latter themselves in that State should they nominate him. The West Virginia delegation were not less emphatic in their opposition."

Some indignant Californians having threatened that their State shall secede because Hayes vetoed the bill prohibiting Chinese immigration, the Richmond (Va.) State advises thusly: "Don't go. Be warned by several who have been there, and don't, for there's nothing secedes like secession."

A man was recently sent to the Penitentiary for life from Franklin county, for stealing a suit of clothes. This was his third conviction to the Penitentiary, and under the law the Judge instructed the jury to give it to him for life, which they accordingly did.

The Glasgow Times says: In the rather personal turn which the debate between Dr. Blackburn and Hon. J. C. Underwood assumed last Saturday, the latter did himself infinite credit by the moderation, dignity and mild forbearance with which he replied to the Doctor's onslaughts. He proved himself a courteous adversary, and a gentleman not given to wantonly insulting the sensibilities of his opponents.

HOWELL, the English Pedestrian, takes to England, $21,500 as the acknowledgement of a grateful people, of his valuable and instructive exhibition in New York. It is not yet known how far his rape of the champion's belt may affect the amicable relations of the two countries. Nine years of trouble are anticipated.

A young man named Baldwin, son of the Assistant Cashier of the Third National Bank, Cincinnati, was shot and killed by some unknown person one night this week. The mystery has created great excitement.

The Stalwarts are alarmed because the new Senate contains nineteen Ex-Confederate officers.

The Democratic can on Monday night, nominated Randall for re-election as Speaker on the first ballot, the vote standing, Randall, 75; Blackburn, 37; McMahon, 3; Morrison, 2, and Cox, 4. The nomination was then, on motion of Mr. Blackburn, made unanimous. Matt Adkins will be Clerk of the House again, he having received 76 votes to Caldwell's 64, Thompson and Field, for Sergeant-at-Arms and Doorkeeper, respectively, were nominated by acclamation. The next day, after Clerk Adams had called the body to order, Clymer nominated Randall; Frye put Garfield on the track for the Republicans, and DeMaty named H. B. Wright for the Greenbackers. The balance of the story is told in a Washington telegram: "When Blackburn's name was called, and he recited his vote for Randall, there was great applause on the Democratic side and in the galleries. When the result of the ballot was first addled up Randall had 143 votes; but the opportune arrival of Mr. O'Reilly, of New York, made it 144, which was a majority at all the members-elect, and cut short a point of order that Conger had made—that it required that number to elect. Randall's majority over all was 5, and the announcement of the result was received with loud cheers. The Speaker-elect was then sworn to the chair by Blackburn and Garfield, and after a brief address, the oath of office was administered by Judge Kelley. After the members had all subsequently taken the oath of office, the caucuses for the other offices were elected by a simple resolution, and the organization of the House was complete."

THE newspapers have commenced sending their "commissioners" over the country for the purpose of interviewing prominent men on the subject of the Democratic nomination for the next Presidency. The Age says the N. Y. Herald recently directed its attention to the 45th Congress, and if that body reflected the public sentiment of the country on the subject, Mr. Tilden's chances are poor indeed. Of 127 members interviewed, 42 declined to express an opinion. Of those who did speak fifty were in favor of Thurman as their first choice, and eleven more declared he was acceptable to them. Tilden was the first choice of ten, and acceptable to nineteen; Hendricks was the first choice of ten, and acceptable to twenty-eight; while Tilden was the first choice of thirteen, and acceptable to only nine. Fifty-seven openly declared themselves decidedly against his re-nomination on any terms whatever. General Hinckley was mentioned, and always with favor. Messrs. Beale, Goode, Cabell and Hunton, of Virginia, expressed decided hostility to Mr. Tilden, adding he stood no chance in that State. The Maryland delegation were equally hostile to him, and one member doubted if the Democrats could carry that State should they nominate him. The West Virginia delegation were not less emphatic in their opposition.

THE Court of Appeals has decided that all money bet on elections shall be forfeited to the Commonwealth whenever it is ascertained that such bets are made.

We are glad to learn that the Hon. H. M. Watterson, father of the editor of the Courier-Journal stands an excellent show for the Clerkship of the Senate.

THEIR are published in the United States 8,703 newspapers and periodicals. Of these 742 are dailies, and 6,817 weekly. Kentucky has 152.

SHOULD Blackburn get the Louisville vote to-morrow, as it is conceded that he will, he will be in 118 votes of a nomination on first ballot.

THE election of Randall is regarded by the knowing ones as a big booz for Tilden.

The inhabitants of Lehigh Valley, in Pennsylvania, who were wrought up to such a form of excitement by the recent fall of what was supposed to be sulphur, have had their fears calmed by scientific men, who pronounced it the pollen from a species of pine caught up by the wind and carried from the Jersey forests.

It is said that Randall will make Blackburn Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations at once, but will not announce the other Committee for several days. It is the general impression now that the called session will be a short one and that a compromise of the proposed political legislation will be effected.

A PRIVATE letter from Hon. Phil. H. Thompson says that it is more than probable that the Greenbackers will for the most part vote with the Republicans. The vote on the admission of the Florida members goes to prove that the prediction is correct.

Two of the Ku Klux who severely wounded Mr. Moore in Clark county last week have been arrested, and the Governor has offered a reward of $2,000 each for the other racers engaged in the disturbance. Moore is recovering.

EMMA CASPER obtained a verdict against Philip Mendel in Louisville this week for $12,500 damages for rape committed on her person. She sued for $15,000.

THE Court of Appeals has decided that all money bet on elections shall be forfeited to the Commonwealth whenever it is ascertained that such bets are made.

We are glad to learn that the Hon. H. M. Watterson, father of the editor of the Courier-Journal stands an excellent show for the Clerkship of the Senate.

THEIR are published in the United States 8,703 newspapers and periodicals. Of these 742 are dailies, and 6,817 weekly. Kentucky has 152.

SHOULD Blackburn get the Louisville vote to-morrow, as it is conceded that he will, he will be in 118 votes of a nomination on first ballot.

SEVEN murderers climbed the gilded stair, ornamented with hempen neckties, at as many points in the United States last Friday.

THE election of Randall is regarded by the knowing ones as a big booz for Tilden.

A WOMAN is President of the State National Bank at Raleigh, N. C.

GARRARD COUNTY.

ENCANTER.

ILL.—Dr. Absalom Adams is very ill at Mr. Theodore Currys.

QUARTERLY COURT—Last Monday, but this dependent could learn of nothing that transpired worth note.

DEAD—In Texas, Samuel Anderson, son of Levi Anderson, of this county. His remains arrived here on Monday and were deposited in the family burying ground, four miles from town.

SEMINOLE HUNT—On Wednesday afternoon two old ladies were riding out of town, when their horses became frightened at a velocipede brigade and threw both of them violently to the ground. One of them, Mrs. Ralston, was seriously injured.

WICK, HICK, THE DOG DOOK.

THE LEGS HAVE COME TO FORM.

AND SOME IN RAGS AND SOME IN TAGS.

AND SOME IN CLOTHES.

That last is poetic license, for the earthenware that recently darkened our thoroughfares possessed no vestige of morality, if any.

WILL OUT—Marriages, like murder, will out. Even the intention will out, but the plans laid never so wisely. And the reporters will be inquisitive and drag details to the surface. Hence the item that a wedding in high life is to be next week, names of course, not forthcoming till all authority shall be given to publish the same.

MRS. GRANGER IN LANCASTER.—Mrs. Maria L. Granger and her father, Dr. Joseph Granger, are guests of Mrs. H. H. Owles.

GRANGER—Is still in session, and the so-called extracts from the New York Sun recently published in this region are all fabrications. I saw a letter from Blair to Mrs. Granger in which she believed the Scotch woman to be dead when she married him, that the existence of this was an open secret, or that he never held any such conversation as that attributed him to the Sun, is beyond a doubt. Blair is supposed to have gone to Canada. There are many particulars of the Sun's worthy publication did space enough.

LATER.—Died, at 1 o'clock, on the morning of the 20th instant, at Mrs. G. W. Dunlap, Jr.'s, Mrs. Susan T. Finnie, in the 55th year of her age.

PENNSA.—Several trials are continuing, and the prosecution is getting a good score.

Don't send elsewhere to get your printing, when you can get it done at the INTERIOR JOURNAL office, just as good, and just as cheap. Remember where you go when you want a "honest" job done, and patronize your home folks.

A HOME ESTABLISHMENT.—THE CENSUS OF KY., 1870, shows that this most popular beverage, Cigarettes, buying for family use, will get the advantage of hard-parched prices. Dealers may rest assured their orders will be filled in good order, and with dispatch, and at prices tencheling bottom.

HAVE YOU DYSMORIA, are you constipated, have you a yellow skin, loss of appetite, Head Ache, if so don't fail to use SHILDRON'S SYSTEM VITALISER. It is guaranteed to relieve you, and to give you courage to suffer when you can be expected to go through such as these. Price 10 cts. and 25cts. Sold by Clement & Penny, Stanford.

NEW STORE.—About the 1st of April, Mr. George H. Bruce will open at Tevis' old stand, a large assortment of Ready-made Clothing, and Gents' Furnishing Goods, &c. Mr. Bruce has had a number of years' experience in the mercantile business, is a No. 1 business man, and we hope he will succeed in his enterprise. Join him most sanguine hopes.

COTTON DOWNS.—Mr. Emery, one of the most worthless of a very worthless family of negroes, was tried before Judge Brown this week for keeping a gambling house, and fined $250. He had not won enough to pay him out, so he goes to the rock pile for 250 days. Solon Craig, another negro, was fined $50 for giving his old daddy a beating. He too, went to the rock pile.

DECEASED.—The house occupied by William Decker and family, near Highland, was burned this week. Nothing of consequence was saved, and as there was no insurance, the loss falls very heavily on Mr. Decker, who, besides being a poor man, has been confined to his bed by sickness for several months. A subscription paper is being circulated in his behalf, and we have no doubt that our citizens will respond liberally.

STILL ALIVE.—We mean that novelties in the goods line are arriving quite frequently at Hayden Brothers, and our advice to all, is don't buy until you see what they have. Buying for cash exclusively, they are enabled to give their customers the full benefit of low prices. We have observed that during the last few days the firm has been doing a lively business, as people have found out where to get such bargains as suit their purse.

WHITE AND NEIGHBORS FOR SALE.—COUN-

TER ATTORNEY Miller and Smith B. Mershon, Town Marshal, are making arrangements to sell several chronic white and negro horses who disgrace this town, and have notified them that unless they seek other fields or go to work, they will be put up at auction and knocked down to the highest and best bidder. This has been done in various parts of the State with great success, and we hope that an example will be made here at once.

THE COUN-STERATORS.—Frank Wilmer, late a brother at this place, has been sentenced to six years in the Penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., and to pay a fine of $100 for counterfeiting. The Craftrees, parents and children, were convicted, and it is hoped that their nefarious operations have come to an abrupt termination.
